Dear sir or Madam,

I am writing to you to announce the launch of a new initiative: The European Opera Academy. The European Opera Academy offers an unparalleled training experience for classical singers through a partnership with some of Europe’s most prominent conservatories. With partner institutions across Europe the European Opera Academy facilitates an exchange of best practices, transnational knowledge and education, as well as proactive job creation, positioning itself as a center of excellence. With a broad selection of modules, The Academy has taken into account the needs and skills of each student, enabling participants to refine their craft and thereby strengthening their position in the job market. Specializations include character development, repertoire, foreign language diction, acting and movement to name just a few of the modules offered. In addition to this, participants are able to develop their strengths while experiencing an immersive, international cultural exchange. This rigorous program is open to excellent Bachelor, Masters and third cycle students from partner institutions as well as qualified postgraduates from around the world.

We would very much appreciate your help in making this collaboration a success by informing your students and staff. If you or they would like more information please visit www.europeanopera.academy or email info@europeanopera.academy.
